47 Violent Crime in Barnsley

The following witnesses were welcomed to the meeting:

Paul Brannan, Head of Safer Barnsley, Bernaslai Homes
 Phil Hollingsworth, Service Director Safer Stronger Healthier Communities, BMBC
 James Aaby, Detective Chief Superintendent, South Yorkshire Police
 Paul Ferguson, Superintendent, South Yorkshire Police
 Ian Bailey, Violence Reduction Unit Partnership Manager, South Yorkshire Police
 Rosemary Clewer, Senior Commissioning Manager, BMBC (VIRTUAL)
 Wendy Lowder, Executive Director Adults and Communities, BMBC (VIRTUAL)
 Cllr Jenny Platts, Cabinet Spokesperson Adults and Communities, BMBC

Cllr Platts introduced the report, providing the Overview & Scrutiny Committee (OSC) with an update on the work of the Community Safety Partnership and South Yorkshire Violence Reduction Unit in Barnsley towards tackling violent crime and its impact on the communities of Barnsley. The report outlined the current performance against priorities and the governance arrangements in place. Cllr Platts reiterated that Barnsley is generally a safe place to be and everything is being done to ensure this continues.

In the ensuing discussion and in response to detailed questioning and challenge the following matters were highlighted:

Operation Sceptre is a nationwide week of intensive action which focuses on raising awareness of knife crime and police activity to tackle the issue. This took place in Barnsley and across South Yorkshire in December 2021, with targeted activity and operations to disrupt criminal activity and knife crime whilst raising awareness of knife crime and the devastating effects it can have on families and the wider community. Although there is heightened activity for Operation Sceptre, this works continues throughout the year every day, with dedicated teams that look to disrupt this activity, to educate and stop knife crime in our communities. Drug taking and anti-social behaviour were the targets as officers from South Yorkshire Police took to the streets of Barnsley town centre for a proactive operation in September 2021. Operation Sidewinder saw the Barnsley Central Neighbourhood Policing Team out and about, a drugs dog. The operation saw numerous officers providing a high-visibility presence in the town centre and the sniffer dog hard at work locating people with drugs in their possession. Operation Sentinel took place last Saturday (and every month) and saw officers mingling discretely amongst the general public in the Town Centre, looking out for vulnerable people and potential offending behaviour.

It was acknowledged that although there has been a stabbing in Monk Bretton recently, knife crime is relatively low. Nonetheless, trends and patterns are monitored and targeted pieces of work take place when necessary. There has been a rise in knife crime across South Yorkshire but Barnsley is not experiencing this at the moment. Support and advice is in place across schools to reduce levels of threat and there are a number of programmes aimed at 11-16 year olds aimed at deterring young people from crime. Street Smart in Locke Parke is a good example of how this type of approach is successfully reaching young people in Barnsley. This type of work starts in primary schools with PCSOs, linked in to Headteachers and pastoral staff, and increases as children get older, with a targetted approach where necessary and appropriate. Some of the programmes are led by armed officers who talk to teenagers about the perils of weapons, drugs etc., in consultation with teaching staff. There is on average around 20 to 25 knife incidents per month (over the last three months), but this should be kept in context as there is a balance between reactive and proactive work – if more proactive searches take place, more knives and weapons will be found but this does not necessarily equate to an increase in crime. For example, a frequent scenario is a builder who turns up for work with a knife and is stopped by Police as part of a stop and search operation. 'Stop and search' is a contentious issue with polarised views. During the 4 months between October and January, 784 searches took place, with action taken in 1 in 5.

Members were aware of serious anti-social behaviour incidents which had taken place in their wards and which seem to be ignored by Police despite there being video evidence of the incidents. This leads to frustration and deters residents from reporting it. It was acknowledged that video evidence is particularly valuable and reporting should always be followed up. Similar experiences were reported when using the 111 service. It is essential that public confidence in reporting crime improves. Problems experienced in Bank End, Worsborough, are finally coming to a resolution after 3 years. Police have used a structured methodological approach to resolving this situation – understanding what is driving the problem, working with different agencies over a sustained period using a problem solving approach. Benefits take time to bear fruit and communication with residents is key.

It was acknowledged that poverty and deprivation drive many crimes, which is why the Area Team approach was introduced four years ago. Community Wardens were introduced to reinforce the feedback link back into communities, to foster engagement and build relationships in the community between BMBC, the Police, Elected Members and communities and has been working well. Communication is always a challenge as lots of information is received and it is essential that it is followed up and fed back at the right time. Various means of communication are used, including social media community alerts and newsletters.

Operations are not confined to the town centre. In November more than 130 officers came together with partners and took part in Operation Duxford across the whole of Barnsley to pro-actively tackle criminality and engage with the local community. As part of the operation 12 arrests were made for offences ranging from drugs and possession of a firearm to burglary and theft and harassment and racially aggravated assault; 27 stop and searches were carried out; 8 vehicles were seized under Operation Takeaway, knives and other dangerous weapons were taken off the district's streets; 25 hotspot visits took place, support was offered at 3 pop up police stations and 65 members of the public were signed up to the Smart Water property protection scheme. The Safer Streets Home Office initiative brought in £500k to spend on extra CCTV in the Dearne to target burglary and this has had a positive impact on other crime. Grant funding will be made available to local authorities to look at combatting violence against women and girls, looking at engagement and education. Problems around fear of attack at Locke Park were identified and BMBC are investing in better lighting to combat fear of crime. A coordinator has been appointed to combat the rise in fear and mistrust of the Police from young women, taking elements from the national strategy and plan to develop Barnsley's own plan. This is an area of focus going forward and tangible measures will be put in place to turn around mindsets and perceptions so that women and girls feel safe and supported.

Drug production and increased drug use and drug related violence, particularly amongst young people, has been linked to organised crime locally, regionally, nationally and globally, and poses a significant threat to communities. Significant work is taking place across the Borough to target organised criminals, along with a national process for understanding and mapping organised crime. It is known that organised crime groups come into the UK from different global communities, but the problem is no worse in Barnsley than elsewhere.

Barnsley has recently seen 42 positive disruptions of organised crime groups - some at a relatively low level and some of a more serious nature. Drug production activities have been dismantled and continue to be monitored. 34 cannabis cultivations ('farms') were detected within the last year, with £1m of drug production disrupted and £0.5m of cash proceeds obtained. South Yorkshire Police have been working very closely with the Home Office around serious organised crime tactics, which is given priority as it is seen as presenting a risk of significant harm to society.

It was felt by a Member that cannabis and synthetic drugs such as 'spice' are increasingly seen as part of a 'normal' night out, which is a cause for concern.

However, this has to be tempered against an exploration of what is 'problem' drug use and the reasons why people take drugs, which could be to drown out previous unresolved life experiences. Project ADDER is a national initiative which combines targeted law enforcement against criminal gangs with improved treatment and recovery services. Although Barnsley is not one of the pilot sites, learning from the initiatives will be taken on board. Levels of drug treatment and support offered are monitored quarterly and compared to other areas through the Safer Barnsley Partnership Board.

The Police work closely with Berneslai Homes around eviction of problem tenants for problem drug use and crime. This course of action removes the risk of harm from that area and broadcasts the wider message that crime doesn't work. This is a continuous war and is intelligence led, with responsibility placed on everyone within the community, from members of the public, staff, reporting through Crimestoppers and local Councillors. It was explained that anybody evicted from a property is entitled to housing support and advice so the Local Authority would be aware of their location, although evidence suggests that people tend to stay within the same community as they have been removed from. It is a matter of getting the balance right. The level of action taken has to be proportionate, must demonstrate that everything has been done to try to resolve the situation and to identify the impact on the surrounding community. Partial closure orders are often used rather than eviction. It is important that children and young people know the potential implications of their behaviour and that their parents may be evicted, which can be a sufficient deterrent. A dedicated officer works with private landlords to make sure they are aware of their responsibilities around drugs and allowing criminal activity in their properties. Criminal cases are brought to court regardless of tenure, but responsibility for penalties lies within the judicial system.

It was reported that the night time economy in the town centre effectively 'died' during the pandemic but when public houses etc., opened back up there was an increased incentive to tackle crime together using a multi-pronged approach, which included working with door staff, identifying potential domestic abuse situations and drug use, combatting under-age drinking, provision of plastic glasses and use of CCTV to make the town centre a safer place to be. 15 crime 'hotspots' were identified across South Yorkshire and only one was in Barnsley Town Centre. Barnsley town centre has successfully achieved the Purple Flag award for the third consecutive year. Lots of new venues are opening within the Town Centre but assurances were given that there are enough resources to police this effectively. Every weekend uniformed officers from the police and other services are on patrol and are using tracking devices and other technology to ensure this is effective. Designing out crime was part of the town centre planning, which includes anti-terrorism features.

Members have themselves been subject to physical attacks and verbal abuse. Barnsley launched its No Place For Hate campaign in July 2021, which aims to stamp out online abuse in the hope that it can make social media a more friendly place and to eradicate hate speech from social media platforms. Hate crime includes verbal abuse, which can quickly escalate to violence. Hate crimes are scrutinised through the neighbourhood policing teams when reported and proactive work in schools takes place to encourage reporting. Regular meetings with the Iman take place at the Mosque, which has been subject to attacks in the past. A new Communications Manager is looking at ways of addressing hate crime and violent crime (including domestic abuse) using social media and other means. Members of the LGBT+ community and minority groups must be encouraged and empowered to report hate crime. Cruelty towards animals will always be thoroughly investigated and perpetrators prosecuted.

Members were encouraged to be the 'eyes and ears' within their communities and to encourage residents to be vigilant and always report suspicions to the police, as this can help to combat crime and make everyone feel safe.

RESOLVED that

- (i) Witnesses be thanked for their attendance and contribution and for their hard work within the communities of Barnsley;
- (ii) Performance information around knife crimes and levels of drug treatment and support should be provided to the Committee; and
- (iii) Elected Members should continue to encourage communities to report suspicious activity.

Report of the Executive Director Core Services to the Overview and Scrutiny Committee
(OSC) on 8th March 2022

A Sustainable Workplace & Healthy Workforce

1.0 Introduction

- 1.1 The purpose of this report is to inform the Overview and Scrutiny Committee of the initiatives developed to support the emotional and physical wellbeing of employees, particularly during the pandemic. It includes how different ways of working will help to sustain the organisation and drive it towards 2030, as well as helping to support our workforce in the process. It also provides an update on the progress the organisation is making in the return to the workplace, working to a new hybrid model and how the council can incorporate this to encourage green and active travel.
- 1.2 Item 4b (attached) is the BMBC Our People Strategy, which summaries the key themes and priorities of the strategy for 2022-2025.

2.0 Background

- 2.1 Barnsley Metropolitan Borough Council (BMBC) is committed to creating an inclusive environment for all employees, promoting health and wellbeing, and supporting employees who experience health difficulties. In February 2020 a health and wellbeing survey was conducted across the council. The aim of the survey was to develop an understanding of the current health and wellbeing of BMBC employees. It was envisaged that this would inform the development of an Employee Health and Wellbeing Strategy, ensure that activities and interventions are designed to meet employee needs and provide a baseline to measure their impact. This survey would also form part of the submission for the South Yorkshire Bewell@work Award.
- 2.2. The survey was designed and implemented by a working group of colleagues across BMBC, including Human Resources, Business Intelligence, Public Health, Organisational & Workforce Development, Communications, and the Wellbeing Stakeholder Group. The survey covered a range of health topics and incorporated validated questions from national survey tools where possible. It was piloted at the Public Health Forum in December 2019 and amended in response to additional feedback from the Wellbeing Stakeholder Group and the Organisational Development Board. The survey was promoted primarily for digital completion; however, a paper format was available for non-networked employees without access to a digital device. The survey was open for completion between February 10th and March 6th, 2020.
- 2.3 In March 2020 the organisation was faced with the Covid-19 pandemic. Due to Covid-19 an initial pulse survey was undertaken in May 2020 with a further pulse survey in October 2020 to see what impact Covid-19 was having on the workforce. From each of the surveys the Wellbeing Stakeholder Group developed and later updated an action plan to address the needs of the organisation.
- 2.4 The Health and Wellbeing survey was completed in February/March 2020 by a total of 2114 employees which equates to a 66% response rate. The outcome of this survey highlighted:-

- In total, 58% of the survey respondents described their current mental health as Very Good/Good and 10.7% described their current mental health as Poor/Very Poor. Among those who reported Poor/Very Poor mental health, there were more women (70%) than men (30%) which mirrors the gender split within the council.
- Employees were asked to rate four areas of personal wellbeing using the Office of National Statistics (ONS) measures. Council-wide scores for life satisfaction, happiness and feeling that things you do in life are worthwhile were all slightly lower among BMBC employees than UK and Barnsley averages. Almost half of the workforce (46%) indicated a level of anxiety between 'Medium' and 'Very High'. This may account for the council average anxiety score being noticeably higher than the Barnsley and UK averages. More women than men reported having 'Very High' anxiety levels (9.9% versus 5.3%).
- In total, 10% of survey respondents stated they had missed a day off work through anxiety, depression or stress during 2019. This equates to 219 employees. There was no variation between men and women in the data. However, employees aged 21-30 had a slightly higher percentage as compared to the overall total (14.4%) and the 61-70 age-group the lowest (4.5%).
- When asked about what they would do if they were to suffer from poor mental health symptoms, 63% of respondents stated they would share this with someone outside of the workplace such as friends or family. A total of 25.3% would share this with their manager, and 1.8% would discuss it with Human Resources. In total, 34% of respondents stated they would say nothing and carry on as usual, and this was predominately women (66%).
- Of the 516 survey respondents who indicated they were managers, only 9 (1.7%) indicated that they are 'Not confident at all' in discussing or providing support for mental health with their employees. In total, 80.4% of managers reported they were either 'Quite Confident' or 'Very Confident' in discussing or providing support for mental health with their employees.
- There was relatively low awareness of the availability of activities and information to support health and wellbeing among employees; 16.4% reported that they were not aware of any at all. In total, 38.7% were aware of the Well@work website, 57.0% were aware of wellbeing courses on our internal learning platform POD, 36.0% were aware of mental health courses and 47.8% knew about counselling.
- Only 9.8% of respondents felt that there should not be any information or help to access employee health promoting activities. There was strong support for the provision of information and activities to address mental health and stress (71.3%).

2.5 The first pulse survey ran in May 2020 was completed by 2,290 employees which equates to a 71% response rate. The key findings of this survey were:-

- 55% of employees reported that they love/like working from home.
- 81% of employees working from home reported that they are very satisfied/satisfied with the support received.
- Employees are experiencing some benefits of homeworking, with 73% indicating that they are enjoying not having to commute.
- 79% of employees said they are very satisfied/satisfied with the information provided in the daily employee update and information provided on the intranet.
- 43% of employees reported that their caring responsibilities have increased in light of Covid-19 and it is clear from comments made by employees that a large proportion of employees are finding the balance of working from home and juggling childcare/caring responsibilities very challenging.
- 40% of employees reported an increase in anxiety levels.
- 19% of employees reported increased feelings of depression.
- Other wellbeing changes reported by employees include sleeping less (33%) and feeling lonely (25%).
- 21% of employees working on the frontline indicated that they feel unsafe/very unsafe. From the comments made by employees their main concerns were in relation to feeling unsafe taking public transport to work, challenges around the application of social distancing measures including a lack of measures observed by the public or that these are difficult to maintain in role, a lack of communication from managers regarding wellbeing and having vulnerable family members at home and the risks of infecting family.

- 15% of those working on the front line indicated that they are dissatisfied/very dissatisfied with the support received. These results compared less favourably to those of employees who are working from home at 6%.

2.6 The second pulse survey ran in October 2020 was completed by 2,054 employees which equates to a 65% response rate. The key findings of the second pulse survey were:-

- 71% of employees reported that they love/like working from home, this has increased since May. 80% of employees working from home reported that they are very satisfied/satisfied with the support received.
- 19% of employees are working in the community on the front line, 66% of those were very satisfied/satisfied with the support received.
- 62% of employees on the front line indicated that they feel very safe/quite safe.
- 24% indicated that they feel quite unsafe/very unsafe, the major change can be seen in the 10% increase in front line workers feeling very unsafe largely due to lack of appropriate Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) and customers and members of the public not social distancing.
- 11% of employees were working from a council building and 66% of those were very satisfied/satisfied with the support received.
- Overall wellbeing remained similar to that reported in May, with 78% of employees stating that they were in good/very good health.
- 27% of employees reported feeling more anxious, a reduction of 13% compared to the May survey.
- 17% of employees reported feeling more depressed compared to 19% in the May survey.
- 50% of employees saw an increase in caring responsibilities and 27% saw a reduction. Overall numbers of employees with caring responsibilities remained static.
- 40% of employees reported that their household income has increased and 51% reported that it has stayed the same, with 19% of employees being worried about their current financial situation.
- 58% of employees said their workload has increased, the main reasons were Covid-19 (36%) and employee shortages (33%).
- 35% of employees stated that their workload was always too much, with 9% of employees stating that they “never” discussed their workloads with their manager due to lack of time.
- 82% of employees said that they are most likely to read the latest information in the Keep Barnsley Moving Bulletin and 49% from organisational emails, 48% from the intranet.

3.0 Current Position

3.1 As a result of the surveys undertaken, the council have put various initiatives in place to address the findings and support employees which include:-

- Procurement of an Employee Assistance Programme (EAP) - all employees and their immediate family have access to the EAP for self-care support and information on a wide range of issues such as childcare support, domestic abuse, legal information, relationship advice, alcohol or drugs issues and financial information. This is a 24/7 helpline.
- There is also an App employees can download ('My Healthy Advantage'), which also has an online and video chat facility. All employees also received a leaflet in the post, promoting the service with a handy push out card containing contact information for easy access. It also offers support for managers to deal with mental health/wellbeing issues of employees.

- Mental Health Awareness Training – delivered virtually by Mental Health First Aid (MHFA) England on POD for all employees to recognise the signs and symptoms and how to deal with stress. A flowchart was also developed to help managers to have discussions and support their employees with mental health issues.
- Mental Health First Aiders – 48 employees have been trained to be Mental Health First Aiders across the Council, to support employees in the workplace. The list of contacts is promoted via the online Employee Hub, with further plans for promotion as employees return to the workplace.
- Bulletin / Straight Talk – regular employee wellbeing features have been included in the employee bulletin which have covered different wellbeing topics and specific interventions and signposted to support e.g. looking after your mental health, working from home reminders about taking breaks, undertaking Digital Screen Equipment (DSE) checks, keeping in touch with colleagues, childcare support, encouraging physical activity, H&S aspects of returning to the workplace and encouraging employees to take annual leave to rest and recuperate.
- E-learning courses available on the internal learning platform POD on mental health awareness, personal resilience, email stress, and Managing and Supporting Wellbeing in the workplace for managers are available for employees / managers to complete at a time and place convenient to them.
- Well@work intranet site – this has been developed in house and includes a host of wellbeing support including a section specifically on mental health.
- Counselling – support is already available through the Occupational Health (OH) Service for employees to self-refer for counselling. This provision has been extended to allow managers to refer employees to OH from day one of an absence if it is related to mental health.
- One to one checklist – a template for managers has been developed to adopt when carrying out 1-2-1 meetings with employees. This encourages discussions about wellbeing and workloads and includes various links, including to a Wellness Action Plans (WAP) template. Wellness Action Plans are an easy, practical way of helping employees to support their own mental health at work and help managers to support the mental health of their team members.
- Remote working toolkit – developed and made available to both managers and employees on POD. This provided advice and support to employees who were not used to working from home and assisted managers in how to effectively manage employees working remotely.
- Smart Working Masterclasses – these were provided online to both managers and employees. The masterclasses gave practical help, advice, tools and techniques to help employees stay well and work effectively from home.
- Commitment to Culture Change – developed a Commitment to Culture Change document which encourages employees to effectively manage their diaries to include free time, regular screen breaks, reminds them of digital etiquette, how to manage emails, and include some personal development time. This was promoted to encourage, where possible, employees to rest and recharge and consider how to work differently and encourage good working practice.
- Keeping active – promoted that being active is good for your physical and mental health. In conjunction with colleagues in Public Health a website was developed and made available which shows activities to get involved in around the Borough.
- Going home / switching off checklist - developed and implemented a going home checklist poster which is displayed in all council buildings and a switching off checklist was published as a screensaver for employees working from home, to remind them about the importance of switching off from work at the end of the day.
- BMBC Sleep Toolkit – developed by Public Health colleagues and available on the Well@work website and has been promoted to employees.

- Free flu vaccinations – every year the Public Health Team offer a free vaccination programme in the workplace for front line employees. Since Covid-19 all other employees have had the option to claim back the cost of getting a flu jab.
- Employee Support forum – set up a network to support employees who are struggling with personal issues that are affecting them at work, such as caring responsibilities and going through the menopause.
- Menopause awareness raising and e-learning course – held a virtual awareness session for all employees to encourage conversations to take place around the menopause. A short e-learning course was also developed which is available on the internal learning platform POD which provides an overview of what menopause is, symptoms, real life stories and how employees can support a colleague who may be going through the menopause at home or at work.

Employee Absence

- 3.2 BMBC sickness rate for 2020/21 was an average of 7.72 FTE days absence per employee. In the previous year (2019/20) this was 7.99 and 2018/19 was 8.54. A more recent focus on managing employee absence and facilitating an early return to work was helping to reduce the council's sickness rate year on year. However, it is predicted that this is likely to rise for 2021/22, primarily due to the pandemic. This is reflected nationally. The main reasons for absence year on year are mental health related absence such as anxiety, depression, stress. For 2020/21 and 2021/2022 this has been closely followed by infectious disease (Covid-19) and the third highest reason for absence is musculoskeletal issues.

Annual leave

- 3.3 Due to the strict lockdown rules at the beginning of the Covid-19 pandemic, there were reports that employees were reluctant to take and book annual leave during the 2020/21 leave year. During 2020/21 and 2021/22 HR/Payroll produced reports for directorates on outstanding annual leave. Annual leave usage was also monitored via regular progress reports to SMT. Communications were also sent out via the employee bulletins reminding employees of the importance of taking a break from work and managers were requested to ensure they were discussing annual leave and time off with their employees regularly. It was agreed that employees could carry forward up to ten days' annual leave from 2020/21, due to workload prioritisations in support of resident services. This will revert to a maximum of five days for the leave year 2021/22, except in exceptional circumstances.

Bewell@work Award

- 3.4 The council submitted an application for the South Yorkshire 'Bewell@work' Workplace Health Award in 2021 and the council was awarded silver status. The award provides a framework for the organisation to work towards to build good practice in workplace health and wellbeing. The surveys that were previously undertaken and the initiatives that have been put in place subsequently were given consideration and discussions took place with focus groups to ensure these were embedded within the council. The assessment concluded that the council promotes a healthy workplace and has considerable benefits available to support our employees' health and wellbeing. The council is working towards achieving gold status in 2022/23.

Wellbeing Stakeholder Group

- 3.5 The Wellbeing Stakeholder group continues to meet bi-monthly to progress their workplan and regularly reports developments to the Organisation Development (OD) Board. A financial wellbeing task and finish group was set up to look at what support is available for employees who may be struggling with their finances as this can also have an impact on mental health. So far, a dedicated money matters page has been set up on the Well@work website to signpost employees for support and an action plan has been developed to look at various initiatives such as a shared cost AVC (additional voluntary contribution), an employee benefits platform and a salary sacrifice scheme for debt consolidation / savings scheme.

Smart Working Programme

- 3.6 The Smart Working Programme is currently preparing to launch its next phase in April 2022 as the council moves to its new hybrid working model, 'Barnsley is our Office'. Change management support and guidance is being prepared to help employees transition through the next stage of the pandemic and employees have been provided with a new 'touch down' workspace on Level 1 of Westgate where they will be able to meet, collaborate and have the important face to face contact they require to interact and work effectively as part of a revitalised workplace experience.
- 3.7 The council's bases in the localities are also being reviewed by the Smart Working programme team and several stakeholder engagement sessions have been held. Key proposals for improvements in workplace environments are being developed and delivered as a result of this work during the coming months.

4.0 Future Plans & Challenges

- 4.1 The council are working towards achieving the gold status of the Bewell@work award. To achieve this, the council needs to develop a mental health policy, look at developing disability forums / groups within the council and have an active travel or green travel plan which encourages the reduction of the organisations carbon footprint. An active travel plan will be introduced in 2022/23, linking to the sustainability agenda and promoting the range of greener travel solutions to employees.
- 4.2 The council has developed a People Strategy for 2022-2025 (see item 4b) which prioritises the focus on employee health and wellbeing. This is a strategy for all staff. It has been designed to support employees to be the best they can be and to help make sure the council are in the best place possible to deliver on Barnsley's 2030 ambitions and the Council Plan priorities. It will also help ensure the organisation is modern, inclusive, efficient, and a high performing council.

The People Strategy has three key themes:

- Effective leadership, values and culture.
 - Maximising organisational capacity and capability.
 - Supporting colleagues to have a great employee experience.
- 4.3 The council continues to be assessed as part of the Investors in People (IiP) Award for which it has retained gold status. Health and wellbeing feature strongly in this assessment. The organisation regularly undertakes an employee survey which includes questions addressing employee health and wellbeing. A full health needs assessment of the council may be undertaken again in 2022/23.
- 4.4 The council is currently investigating the need for trauma support to be made available across the organisation and what this need might look like. A health needs assessment is being undertaken to determine what the organisational demand might be.
- 4.5 Covid-19 has been a big challenge for all services, but employees regularly demonstrate their resilience and the council has put in place effective support mechanisms and options for employees through this difficult time. These initiatives will remain in place to support employees going forward. The wellbeing stakeholder group, which includes the Smart Working Project Manager, will continue to consider and address any future needs that may arise, including as a result of feedback from employees.

- 4.6 The Smart Working Programme will monitor and review the performance and impact of the new hybrid working model and workspaces throughout 2022/23 and ensure that the workstreams delivered within each theme continue to meet the requirements set out in our People, Asset and Sustainable Energy Action Plans (SEAPS).
- 4.7 Following the pandemic all organisations are having to adapt at speed and there is currently no established consensus for the best way to organise work and workplaces in a post-Covid-19 society. With that in mind, the next period will very much be one of testing what works and what doesn't and amending plans and proposals, accordingly, maintaining agility in delivering effective services for residents and the borough.
- 4.8 There is also the wider impact Covid-19 may have on other health and wellbeing issues that may affect employees long term, such as delays in cancer screening and the early diagnosis of various illnesses, the reported longer waiting lists for operations / treatment in the NHS and potential increase in domestic violence during this time. The council also needs to monitor and ensure the new hybrid model does not lead to an increase in musculoskeletal issues.
- 4.9 The council will consider reintroducing our Know Your Numbers Campaign where employees are encouraged to come forward to have their blood pressure, cholesterol, BMI and diabetes levels checked. This is run by the in-house occupational health team and helps to identify any hidden issues that could lead to heart disease, diabetes, or other chronic diseases.
- 4.10 As part of the council's Transport Strategy and the Barnsley 2030 plan, the organisation is also working towards Climate Zero45, reducing emissions and encouraging employees to use more sustainable modes of travel.
- 4.11 The transport team are currently considering greener travel plans, with associated targets and will be conducting a survey shortly which will help contribute towards this plan. The council wants to encourage employees to try for at least one day per week to be active travel.
- 4.12 To encourage active travel, currently there is a cycle to work scheme available to employees. Other schemes will also be considered, such as discounted bus passes, enhance the existing cycle to work scheme, have more cycles (electric bikes) available for employees and increase the amount of cycle storage available around council buildings.
- 4.13 There is also have a car lease scheme where the purchase of electric / hybrid vehicles will continue to be promoted. There are electric charging points available in the main car parks within the borough.
- 4.14 There are also a range of discounts in relation to health benefits in the Just4you benefits scheme which is available to all employees and includes discounted membership for local gyms and access to various Health Care plans.

6.0 Possible Areas for Investigation

6.1 Members may want to ask questions around the following areas:-

- Which areas of performance are you most pleased with, what could be better?
- What areas are you most concerned about and why?
- How will you monitor and evaluate the Smart Working programme?
- What do you consider to be the key to managing change?
- How would you describe the culture of the organisation? How do you think employees would describe the culture of the organisation?
- In your opinion, are messages being delivered and implemented effectively and equitably across all teams within the organisation?
- Does the membership of the Wellbeing Stakeholder Group proportionately represent the demographics of the workforce as a whole?
- How have you responded to the council's average anxiety score being noticeably higher than the Barnsley and UK averages?
- How are you supporting employees with increased workloads to prevent burnout?
- When do you expect the mental health policy to be implemented and how will employees suffering from mental health related issues be involved in the formulation of the policy?
- How do you ensure that employees feel valued?
- How will you ensure that the organisational structure is effective and employees have the skills and abilities to support the council's ambitions for 2030?
- What does success look like, and how will you know whether you have achieved it?
- What evidence do you have to show that initiatives are having a positive impact upon employee wellbeing?
- What examples of best practice have been used to develop strategies, policies and initiatives?
- Are there sufficient resources to achieve the priorities set out in the People Strategy?
- What can members do to support employee wellbeing?

Our People Strategy 2022 - 2025

How we'll monitor progress

We'll monitor progress and the difference we're making through a variety of ways, such as performance measures, outcomes and findings from assessments and reviews.

In addition, regular progress reports will be provided to the Organisation Development Board who will oversee the delivery of the outcomes outlined within this strategy.

Introduction

Our Council Plan 2021 – 2024 sets out how we as a council will support the achievement of the vision for the borough through four priorities: Healthy Barnsley, Learning Barnsley, Growing Barnsley and Sustainable Barnsley. Our final priority, Enabling Barnsley, is driven by our ambition to be even better; a modern, inclusive, efficient, productive and high-performing council.

The People Strategy supports the delivery of both the Council Plan 2021-2024 and Barnsley's 2030 ambitions. We know the greatest asset the council has is you, our people, who make such a positive difference to the quality of residents' lives, enabling our communities to be even better connected and to help themselves and each other. The People Strategy demonstrates the value we place on our people, their energy, ideas, and innovation, with many ways of involving and collaborating with colleagues in its implementation and delivery.
