Mr J R Staincross

DEAR SIR-MADAM

This is my question for the council meeting in September.

How many people do BMBC employ, including its subcontractors, and during this period of the coronavirus pandemic, how may employees worked at their normal office station.

How many employees worked from home, and how many employees were sent home, and not to work and placed on the governments furlough scheme.

For the employees working at home, what conditions were put in place to prevent family members, and friends from having access to their work stations and equipment. Who approved these conditions to ensure the security of the equipment, and the compliance with the Data Protection Act.

There is a duty of care to those employees working from home, what has been done to ensure they a approved designated work place, which meets the conditions, in work place health and safety legislation.

Yours sincerly

J R
